

ANIMAL ALLERGEN AWARENESS

You are about to enter an area housing animals that produce known allergens that may cause allergic hypersensitivity or even asthma.

If you are not required to wear a respirator for your specific task (defined in the Laboratory Animal Allergen Exposure Control Plan), you may choose to wear an N-95 respirator on a voluntary basis. If you do, read, sign, follow and file the Voluntary Respirator Use Fact Sheet for Animal Handlers from the UMD Respiratory Protection Program, Section VI, available at www.essr.edu/sites/essr.umd.edu/files/documents/VoluntaryRespiratorUse.pdf or see the facility manager.
